1. General

1.1 Unless otherwise specifically agreed in writing [...] ("Company") undertakes to provide Client services in accordance with these general terms (the "General Terms") and accordingly, all offers or tenders of service are subject to the General Terms. All resulting contracts are subject to the General Terms, in which case such local law shall prevail, but only to the extent that it deviates from these General Terms or is otherwise expressly rejected.

1.2 Any reference in any document, request for quotation, order, approval or other form to any other terms or conditions to govern any services specified in these General Terms shall not be binding between the parties (and are hereby expressly rejected).

2. Company

2.1 The Company is engaged in Testing, Inspection and Certification (TIC). As such, it:
   a) provides such standard services as are referred to in article 4.1;
   b) provides advisory and specialized services as may be agreed between the parties as referred to in article 4.2; and
   c) issues reports or certificates as referred to in article 4.3, 4.4 and 4.5.

2.2 The Company provides its services to the companies, persons or bodies from which the instructions to act have originated ("Client"). No other party is entitled to give instructions, particularly to the scope of inspection or delivery of report or certificate, unless so authorised by the Client and agreed by the Company. The Company shall be deemed to be irrevocably authorised to issue at its discretion the report or the certificate to a third party in case of instructions or undertaking by the Client to such third party or if such instruction or promise implicitly follows from circumstances, trade custom, use or practice.

2.3 The Company shall provide services in accordance with:
   a) the Client's specific requirements and specifications and instructions enabling the Company to evaluate and perform the services;
   b) the specifications and instructions enabling the Company to evaluate and perform the services in accordance with the samples where the said agreements are made or carried out expressly preclude any of the General Terms, in which case such local law shall prevail, but only to the extent that it deviates from these General Terms or is otherwise expressly rejected.

3. Information

3.1 All enquiries and orders for the provision of services must be accompanied by sufficient information specifications and instructions enabling the Company to evaluate and perform the services.

3.2 Documents reflecting engagements contracted between the Client and third parties, or third parties and third parties, or contracts of sale, letters of credit, bills of lading and other documents (including if received in connection with the Client's instructions) are considered to be for information purposes only, without extending or restricting the scope of services as accepted by the Company.

3.3 Any pre-existing data, including technical information and specifications, on any media or through any means, may be deemed by the Company to belong to the party providing it or making it accessible, unless otherwise in the public domain. Data developed or obtained as a result of a contract or in the performance of a Purchase Order, including certificates, expert opinions and calculations, on any media, in any computer code or with any application, as well as any other information provided by any party to it, is owned by the Company. The Client shall have a non-exclusive right of use of such data.

3.4 The Company shall treat all information received in connection with the provision of its services as confidential to the extent that such information is not published, available to third parties or otherwise in the public domain. The Company is entitled to provide all confidential information to its contractors and their employees, agents or subcontractors, only when and to the extent required for the provision of the services.

3.5 The Company and the Client shall comply with all applicable data protection laws and respect information and privacy rights of individuals when processing, transmitting, or storing of any personal, or other sensitive, data.

3.6 In no event is the Client, or any third party acting on behalf of it, permitted to perform an audit on the Company premises. The Company may agree with its written permission regarding what data is collected and its scope are defined and explicitly agreed to by the Company. In all cases, any audit must at all times be guided and supervised by personnel of the Company, performed only on information regarding the services as provided exclusively to the Client, and all costs in connection with the audit are borne by the Client.

4. TIC Deliverables/Scope

4.1 The Company's standard services may include:
   a) quantitative and qualitative inspection;
   b) inspection of goods, plant, equipment, packing, tanks, containers and means of transport;
   c) inspection of loading or discharging;
   d) sampling;
   e) chemical analysis and other testing;
   f) surveys and audits.

4.2 Special services exceeding the scope of the standard services of article 4.1 are only undertaken by the Company subject to a specific arrangement. Such special services may include, without limitation:
   a) qualitative and quantitative guarantees;
   b) tank calibration, metering and meter proving; development of data processed in writing, provided such data are subject only to the inspection criteria determined at the time of requesting the certificate and do not in any event constitute any guarantee of quality or quantity of the goods, or of fitness of the goods for any particular purpose.

5. Obligations of the Client

The Client shall:
   a) ensure that adequate instructions and sufficient information are given in due time to the Company enabling it to provide the required services effectively and timely;
   b) procure all necessary access for the Company's representatives enabling the required services to be performed effectively;
   c) supply, when required, all special equipment and make available all personnel necessary for the performance of the required services;
   d) ensure full and unconditional access to the location where the services are expected to be performed. The Client will provide all necessary safeguards to provide a safe and secure environment for the Company's employees, agents and subcontractors;
   e) immediately take all necessary steps to eliminate or remedy any obstruction to or hindrance in the performance of the services;
   f) inform the Company in advance of all known hazards and dangers, actual and potential related to any order, samples or testing, including the presence or risk of radiation, toxic, flammable or explosive substances or accidental pollution or pollution.

6. Disclaimers

6.1 The Company is entitled, at its discretion, to delegate the performance of the whole or any part of the required services to any agent or subcontractor.

6.2 If the Client requests the examination of the majority of samples by the Client's or by any third party's laboratory, the Company is deemed to pass on the results of such analysis without any responsibility for its accuracy. If the Company is only able to witness an analysis by the Client's or by any third party's laboratory, the related Company's services are limited to confirmation that the correct sample has been analysed, and shall not extend to the accuracy of any analysis or results. The Client is not entitled to request a change of test results or of any other parts of the inspection report, except for any obvious mistakes.

6.3 Except as specifically and expressly agreed otherwise, the Company disclaims and does not guarantee, represent or warrant regarding:
   a) the accuracy or authenticity of documents, titles or pledges presented to it; and
   b) quality, quantity, fitness for the purpose of use of such data.

6.4 The Company is neither an insurer nor a guarantor and excludes all liability in such capacity. Clients seeking a guarantee against loss or damage should obtain appropriate insurance.

7. Liability

7.1 The Company undertakes to exercise due care and skill in the performance of the agreed services and accepts responsibility only where such skill and care is not exercised. The Company shall not be liable for any loss or damage caused by or resulting from failure or negligence or any error or omission of any nature and howsoever caused, under or in connection with the contract (including all extensions and amendments of such contract) and any failure to exercise due care and skill by the Company shall not create any circumstances where such service was agreed to have been completed, the amount of any fee or commission paid in respect of the required services, not exceeding ...... in one calendar year. If the paid fee or commission relates to multiple services and a claim arises in respect of one of those services, the Company will prorate the fee or commission is apportioned by reference to the time estimated for the performance of each service.

7.2 All liability is excluded to the extent it relates to indirect or consequential losses, including loss of profit, loss of future business, loss of production and cancellation of contracts entered into by the Client.

7.3 All liability for any claims, losses, damages, costs or expenses ceases unless court proceedings are served to the Company within [...] months after the date of the performance by the Company of the service that gives rise to the liability, or, in case of any alleged non-performance, within [...] months after the date of the performance by the Company. If any unforseen cause outside the Company's immediate control prevents or hinders the Company from performing or completing any service in respect of which an order has been given or an agreement made, the Company shall pay to the Client:
   a) the amount of all costs and expenses actually incurred,
   b) a proportion of the agreed commission equal to the proportion (if any) of the service actually performed; and
   c) the Client shall be relieved of all responsibility and liability for the partial or total non-performance of the required service.

7.4 If any unforeseen facts or circumstances occur or expenditures arise in relation to the required services, the Company is entitled to call for the additional time and costs and expenses necessarily incurred to complete the services.

7.5 The Client is entitled to receive a copy of the inspection report, except for any obvious mistakes.

7.6 Any amendment or waiver of any part of these General Terms is without effect, unless it is in writing and duly signed by an officer of the Company.

8. Payment

8.1 The Client shall pay all sums payable to the Company on account of any dispute or claim as it may allege against the Company.

8.2 In the event the Client becomes subject of a suspension-of-payments, an arrangement with creditors, bankruptcy, insolvency, is declared under receivership or in case of a cessation of business by the Client, the Company is entitled to suspend all further performance of its services immediately, without liability.

8.3 If the Company is prevented by reason of any cause outside the Company's immediate control from performing or completing any service in respect of which an order has been given or an agreement made, the Client shall pay to the Company:
   a) the amount of all costs and expenses incurred actually,
   b) a proportion of the agreed commission equal to the proportion (if any) of the service actually performed; and
   c) the Client shall be relieved of all responsibility and liability for the partial or total non-performance of the required service.

8.4 If any unforeseen facts or circumstances occur or expenditures arise in relation to the required services, the Company is entitled to call for the additional time and costs and expenses necessarily incurred to complete the services.

8.5 The Client is entitled to receive a copy of the inspection report, except for any obvious mistakes.
